Something for the Workingman to Remember.

It would be hardly possible to put the free trade case more clearly or more strongly. The arguments which President Cleveland uses are those which Mr. Cobden used to employ forty-five years ago, and which any English free trader would employ now. They are purely free trade arguments, and as such we are very glad to see Mr Cleveland using them, though sorry for the popular infatuation which makes it dangerous to give them their right name.—London Times.

He discusses the principles at issue in the struggle and shows that he is a free trade candidate in everything but name. The reservation is an important one for American party purposes. The President finds compelled to characterize the attempt to brand him a free trader as a deception of his enemies. For all that, the electoral conflict now in progress is a conflict between free trade and protection, and nothing less.—London News.

The only time England can use a Celt is when he emigrates to America and votes for free trade.—London Times.

Attention Lumbermen!

*The lumbermen of the State of Maine are not alone in their OPPOSITION TO FREE TRADE IN MANUFACTURED LUMBER, as there is a strong opposition from Minnesota, Kentucky, West Virginia and all the Pacific States to the placing of lumber on the free list. The high duty now collected by the Dominion of Canada upon nearly all the articles manufactured of wood should prevent such action by Congress. * * * Free lumber from Canada endows equal advantages in return would be A WHOLLY UNNECESSARY PRESENT TO OUR OWN PEOPLE. * * * The Canadian lumberman purchases his supplies and teams at a less cost than do our lumbermen and he PAYS LESS FOR LABOR.—Bangor Commercial, February, 1888.*

The Great Mass Meeting.

Arrangements are progressing rapidly for the grand Republican open meeting to be held in Custer Park next Thursday afternoon. It is expected there will be a great concourse to welcome Mr. Blaine and the other distinguished speakers who will address the people on that day. Special trains will be run from different sections of the State at low fares and a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of protection to participate in the demonstration. In the evening there will be a grand torchlight parade and all Republicans along the line of march, which will be announced in ample season, are requested to illuminate.

It is an Injunction.

The Ware having admitted that a protective tariff increases the cost to the purchaser of the articles upon which it is levied, it is only necessary to show that the duty on lumber is protective to prove that it is the Ware who is responsible for the high price of lumber.

In THE WHIG of Thursday morning we asked the Commercial to transcribe its figures which it has published with the [illegible] accompanied by the most positive assertion, and to show in so many words whether it proposes, from hostility to protection, to [illegible]

DESTRUCTIVE STORMS.

Most Damaging in Iowa for Many Years.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 16. The storms of Tuesday and yesterday were among the most severe that have occurred in this portion of the state for many years. Railroads were greatly damaged and trains delayed many hours Washouts are reported on all the roads and the crops were badly damaged. During the storm yesterday afternoon lightning struck a group of threshers near Ossian One man was instantly killed and another so badly injured that he soon died The clothes of both were torn to shreds

FIFTIETH CONGRESS—First Session.

Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 Mr Reagan took the floor to speak on the President's annual message.

The conference report on the army appropriation bill was then taken up and Mr Gorman, one of the conferees, stated the grounds on which he declined to sign the report and on which he would vote against it After a long discussion the conference report was adopted by yeas 30, nays 11

The Senate, at 4 15, went into open executive session on the fisheries treaty and the presiding officer directed that the treaty be read by sections

The first article having been read, Mr Gibson rose and addressed the Senate

Mr Hoar inquired whether the reading of the treaty by articles ought not to be continued until some amendment was offered to a particular article when, of course, that amendment would be debated

The presiding officer directed that the rule bearing on that question be read

Mr Gibson said he could add nothing to the sources of information and to the ability and eloquence which had characterized the debate, and should have been content to cast a silent vote if it had not been that certain imputations, unjust and undeserved, had been cast on Senators representing States lying south of the Potomac After a rapid sketch of the old French war the war of the revolution, the war of 1812, the treaty of 1783 the treaty of Ghent, the treaty of 1818, the diplomatic correspondence of 1826 between Edward Everett and Lord Aberdeen, and the treaty of 1842, he came down to the pending treaty and asked what was to take place when it was rejected.

It was predicted that great hostility would be met by a proposition to worry, tease and belittle the Canadians He did not think that a wise, just or manly policy for the Government of the United States to indulge in "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" was that, he asked, the outcome of American statesmanship in the nineteenth century, in dealing with a Christian power like Great Britain Retaliation opened the door to contention, controversy, hostility and ruin; arbitration opened the door to peace honored and to a competent set of skills Which door would the people enter?

The people of Iowa would live to see the Government of the United States extend all over the continent and why attempt to stop that extension by creating quarrels

He moved that the pending treaty be committed to the Committee on Foreign Relations, with instructions to report such amendments to the treaty as would remove ambiguity and remedy the defects in it, or else to report a plan of arbitration for the determination and settlement of all difficulties in connection with the fisheries

Mr Frye remarked that there did not seem to be much more debate to take place on the treaty and asked unanimous consent to order that all debate on the treaty close on Monday evening next, and that votes on the treaty, and on such amendments as might be proposed to be offered, be taken at 12 o'clock on Tuesday next

Mr Morgan—We will take that proposition under advisement till to-morrow

The Senate, at 5 35, adjourned

House

The fortification appropriation bill was passed this morning without division

Morrill, of Kansas, called up the resolution assigning May 24 and 25 for the consideration of general pension legislation, with a proposed amendment changing the dates to August 20th and 30th Morrill gave a resume of the various measures of a general character which had been reported from the Committee on Invalid Pensions and urged the necessity of fixing a time for the consideration Morrill moved the previous question and the vote resulted—yeas 116, nays 7 No quorum and a call of the House was ordered

The roll call showed the presence of 174 members and the morning hour having expired the resolution went over.

Mr Springer, of Illinois, attempted to secure the consideration of the Oklahoma bill, but the point of no quorum was raised against him and he was forced to abandon the attempt.

THE STEAMER GELMER SUNK.

Two Steamers Collide off Rhode Island.

Steamer Gelmer Sinks in Five Minutes.

Seventy-two Passengers and Thirty-three Seamen Find a Watery Grave.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. The steamship Wieland, which arrived to-day from Hamburg, reports that August 14th while thirty miles south of Block Island, at noon, the new iron steamer Thingvalla, Copenhagen for New York, with signals of distress. The Thingvalla collided on the 14th at 4 A M with the steamer Gelmer, of the same line, from New York August 11th for Copenhagen. Steamer Gelmer sank in about five minutes Fourteen passengers and seventeen of the crew, among them Captain Moller, were saved. Seventy-two passengers and thirty-three of the crew were lost. Steamer Wieland brought 161 passengers from the Thingvalla and their lives saved from steamer Gelmer to New York. Steamer Thingvalla will remain in port. Hafflin, Jr &

When the accident occurred life boats were promptly launched from the Thingvalla and the work of rescue began at once. Out of 130 passengers and crew on the Gelmer only thirty-seven were saved. None had reached the boats but most were picked up from improvised rafts, children, women, camp stools and anything else that would float. The survivors had no hurry as the vessel went down about eight minutes after the crash. Among the saved passengers is only one woman, Mrs Hilda Linz, of Christiansand. Her two little children going to Sweden with her, were lost A fifteen years old boy on the Thingvalla, whose name I did not learn, had his legs crushed. The two had become somewhat acquainted by the time the Wieland appeared and there were many lively scenes as children and others

Were Lowered in Slings to the Boats for transfer. The able bodied passengers and crew used the ship ladders. As we reached the Wieland the last of the Gelmer's abandoned life boats floated out of sight There was no fault to be found with the manner in which we were treated aboard the Wieland Nothing was too good for us, even the passengers divided their clothing with the unfortunates from the Gelmer Second officer Jorgensen, of the Gelmer gives this account of the collision I was asleep in my bunk when I heard the shock and immediately went on deck, and taking in the situation at a glance ordered all hands on deck then swung myself on the bow of the Thingvalla This caused the forward part of the ship to rise so that the hole in the bow was out of water The vessel was then safe for the time being, and the fears of the passengers were calmed The work of rescuing the Gelmer's people had already begun and was pressed with vigor Every man of the crew it would be spared was engaged in working with small boats of the saved and lost from the Gelmer is as follows Lost, passengers 50, crew 22, officers 3, total, 110 Saved passengers, 16, crew 11, officers 2, total 29 The search was kept up until there was no possibility that any one remained afloat, and then they sailed around until daylight The Thingvalla after taking on board thirty-five rescued passengers had over 200 in the cabin. Over sixty were badly disabled When after the hours of anxiety, named Hafflin, the Wieland was sighted, arrangements were quickly made by which every one, except the officers and crew, were transferred to the latter steamship Captain Lund and crew refused to abandon the Thingvalla though she could only make two knots an hour like that 150 miles from Halifax when the Wieland left her should a storm arise before she reaches port the case will have to take to the life boats As her rate of travelling she cannot reach New York before Friday and with rough weather would be detained till Monday or Tuesday

The Doomed Gelmer

sank gracefully, stern first, with her bow in the air Almost everybody was asleep and when the bugle to fill we could hear groans and tears resulting screams coming from below Those who reached the deck made frantic efforts to get down the boats, but were too much excited to be successful They finally grabbed up pieces of wood and jumped over the side of the vessel The Gelmer was one of four vessels owned by the Thingvalla Line, and was considered their crack ship Most of her passengers were western people who were booked by A Matthews & Co, general agents of the line, in Chicago. The Gelmer was an iron screw steamship of 2,616 tons burden

The funeral services will take place at Mr. Hoyt's Calvinistic church on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, when Rev. Reuben Hoyt Hoyt will officiate.

A party of [illegible]

There are now five steamers on the lake at Belfast and several sailboats, all engaged in transporting parties and persons to the burying grounds. Capt. A. G Crockett has commenced to make regular trips up and down the lake with his new and commodious steamer, which he has named "The Rippling Wave." She is capable of carrying comfortably from 75 to 100 passengers.

The Canadian Pacific Railroad Company has its track all laid to Ship Pond, and the construction train has completed its work at that part of the line It was delivered on Wednesday. The line to the Outlet, Moosehead Lake, has also been completed. Good progress is being made all over the whole line, and the contractors now feel that they see their way clear to an early completion of the new extension

The many friends of Mr R. A. Libby, for fourteen years in the City Drug store with B. F Bradbury and W E. Mann, and recently with W C True, in the East Side Drug store, has secured a fine position with the large manufacturing and wholesale drug firm of George L Goodale & Co., of Boston in the manufacturing department While regretting to lose Mr Libby from among us his friends will be pleased to know that he has obtained such an excellent position and will with hope the highest success in the future He will leave for Boston next Sunday night

PITTSFIELD NOTES Our Pittsfield correspondent writes Our delegates to the Republican County Convention report a large and enthusiastic gathering A strong county ticket was placed in nomination —The last term at the Maine Central Institute begins on September 3d, and there are indications already of a full term —The Republicans will have a flag raising and rally here next Saturday evening there will be speaking by Hon. S J Walton, of Skowhegan, and Hon Llewellyn Powers, of Boston —Work on the new school house here will probably begin in a few days, the contract having been let to Lewiston parties —A large number of our citizens attended the Maine reception at Augusta and also the rally in Portland

A HARD SIGHT The cries of a woman about midnight one night this week on Third street awoke all of the residents in the vicinity and several of them arose and went to the spot from whence the cries proceeded There they found a woman lying upon the sidewalk crying very bitterly and quivering as though in great pain One of the gentlemen returned home and got some stimulant which he gave her, the ladies did all in their power for her and a physician was sent for When he arrived the conclusion was reached that the only trouble with the woman was that she was drunk Those who had been so kind hearted in their response to the calls of distress felt that they were the victims of deliberate confidence he woman was taken to her home

THE MAINE CENTRAL is moved from the office this morning and contains the usual large amount of interesting matter The price of the Weekly is only one dollar per year and special rates have been made for the campaign, which place it within the reach of all The week's news contains among other matter an account of the funeral services of General Sheridan, full report of the Republican County Convention, great reception tendered Mr Blaine, days shooting in Portland, letters from our correspondents in Eastern Maine, interesting Bar Harbor news and gossip, agricultural items, seaside notes, report of the great Augusta demonstration, editorials on daily topics, latest telegraphic news to time of going to press, Maine Chautauquans at Fryeburg, and many other items of interest Copies in wrappers may be obtained at the counting room

THE DARRISON IRON WORKS There are at the present time about forty guests at the Silver Lake Hotel, Kezebbo Iron Works, and among them are Hon E D Nealley and Miss Nealley Mr George Webster, Mrs. Webster and Miss Rose Webster of this city. The hotel was never in better condition for the entertainment of guests than at this time, as it has been thoroughly renovated and painted, and everything looks very neat about the different rooms The two following months are the best at the Iron Works and the hotel, under the capable rule of the popular landlord, Mr. Cates, will undoubtedly be largely patronized during that time There are many points of interest at and about the works, and all who visit there find much entertainment as well as instruction in seeing the process of making pig iron As a health giving resort it is the equal of any.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY FARMS Hon E A. Gilbert, of North Greene, and Mr D A Barr, of this city, took a two days' ride on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week through some of the towns in this vicinity for the purpose of making an examination of the condition and prospects for crops this season They visited Kenduskeag, Corinth, Garland and Exeter Mr Gilbert was much pleased at the appearance of the farms in the localities which he visited, and was gratified to see the improvements that are manifested on every hand Everything showed that the farmers are doing their best to improve their lands, and they are getting good crops in consequence There is a large amount of land under cultivation in Penobscot county and it is being worked intelligently, and for the most abundant results. Mr Gilbert thinks that Penobscot county is second only to Aroostook, in the extent of farming operations and in promise of bounteous crops.

SOUTH WEST HARBOR ITEMS A very pleasant hop was given at the Ocean House, Wednesday evening, that was participated in by a large number of devotees of the terpsichorean art, who are stopping at the hotel —There are two clubs of young ladies and gentlemen at the Harbor, who try to outdo one another in entertaining, and he or she who is a member of either organization, is to be dressed for all social occasions. One of the clubs is called the "Sea Urchin" and among its members are Miss Pough, Miss May Thurston and Misses Morton and Mabel Bridges, of this city. The club has some very pleasant meetings from time to time.—The storm of last Monday was very severe at the Harbor and it rained and blew very hard all day. Huge waves were rolled into the harbor from the sea, and the surf made a very interesting sight.—A young man named Robinson, who belongs to South West Harbor, capsized in a sail boat in the harbor, one day this week, while on his way from one of the islands, by a sudden shifting of the boom as he was sailing along

EASTERN MAINE STATE FAIR. The following is the arrangement of special trains during the Eastern Maine State Fair, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 23rd, 24th, 25th and 26th, to be run each day: Leave Mattawamkeag at 7.30 A M and reach Bangor at 10, leave Oakland at 8 A M and reach Bangor at 10.30; leave Skowhegan at 7.30 A. M and arrive in Waterville at 9.07. Returning, leave Bangor for Mattawamkeag at 5.30 P. M and arrive at 8 15, leave Bangor for Waterville at 6 P. M and arrive at 7 58, leave Waterville for Skowhegan at 3 P M and arrive at 6 40. These with the regular train service and the steamboat lines will furnish excellent means of transportation, and thousands will undoubtedly take advantage of the opportunity to be present at the fair, which will have many new attractions this year

BUTTER FACTORY At the meeting recently held at the Milk Falls for the purpose of considering the object of establishing a butter factory, the following committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions to the stock J M Harriman, Andrew Haley, and Charles York, Bangor, Higgins Orrington, Mr Corey Eddington Those who intend to contribute cream to the establishment are requested to call on some one of the committee and subscribe as it is impossible for the committee to call upon each one Those who intend to furnish cream will be given the preference in selling the stock The committee are meeting with good success The following is a copy of the subscription paper being circulated We the undersigned do agree to take the amount of stock set against our names in a stock company to be known as the Badger Butter Factory, providing there is enough stock sold (to build and equip the same) within three months from date The said factory to be erected within one mile of the postoffice in said Bangor The stock of which shall not exceed two thousand dollars, to ten dollar shares This stock will draw six per cent interest payable semi annually

A STARTLING PROPOSITION

Interview with Hon Archibald Lisa—Views of A P Libby, Esq—What the Manufacturers Think

Hon Archibald Lisa, of Hon Israel the great woolen manufacturer, was at the Penobscot Exchange last night, where he was interviewed by a representative of The Whig. The writer found him in company with Augustus P Libby, Esq of New York, both gentlemen being directors of said stockholders in the new Old Town woolen mills Mr Lisa's attention was called to an article which appeared in last evening's Commercial, purporting to be a despatch from Hartland, in which he was made to appear as opposed to protection and in favor of free wool Mr Lisa, after having the article read to him, said it entirely misrepresented, as published, the position which he occupies, as he is a firm believer in the doctrine of protection as the safeguard of American industries and American labor While he believed, as an abstract proposition, that the free importation of wool might inure to the temporary benefit of woolen manufacturers, he also believed that the policy of protection was the only policy for the American people That policy, as a whole, must stand or fall together, each interest being inter-dependent with every other To make a break in it by the free importation of wool or any other raw material would be like the opening of a small crevasse in a dyke which, imperceptible at first would enlarge and expand until the whole fabric was destroyed and the country protected by it inundated Therefore, whatever might be the views of those interested in any particular branch of manufactures as to the ethics, tempority or otherwise, upon their particular industry, it would not do to make any distinction in the policy of protection.

American furnishes the largest and best market in the world, and it is for the interest of all our people that the policy of protection to American industries, as the only true policy for our own people, should prevail. That it was in this belief that he hung out on his building, on the Fourth of July, a flag bearing the motto "Protection to American Industries." He believes that it is to the Republican and not to the Democratic party that the people should look for the enactment of laws upon the tariff question, and believing this he shall cast his vote for Harrison and Morton and Protection to American industries.

Mr Lisa spoke of a conversation he had with an English manufacturer who said that if the duties on manufactured goods were taken off that he would double his spindles and run his factories day and night.

Mr. Libby was also most emphatic in his denunciations of the doctrine of free trade, under whatever guise it is put forward by the Democratic party, and by figures with which he is perfectly familiar showed how the reduction of duties, instead of reducing the revenues, as is claimed to be its object by the Democrats, would largely increase them, thus adding to the surplus of which they seem to stand so much in fear. By figures obtained by him at the New York custom house last week it was shown that under the tariff reduction of 1883 the duties on 4 single articles imported into this country, were increased about $200,000 on $6,000,000 a year, and this was also true of other articles.

The American people are not ready to adopt a policy which is sure to break down their industries and reduce their wages for the benefit of foreign manufacturers, and any attempt of the Democrats to make it an issue will prove a lamentable failure. All Mr. Cleveland is looked upon in the East as and this fact needs dwelling on in the Cleve-
